

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

PN
6071
C3
G88

A 798,821

KITTENS AND CATS

A BOOK OF TALES

BY EULALIE OSGOOD
GROVER

PN

6071

100

588

I AM THE QUEEN

KITTENS AND CATS

A Book of Tales

BY

EULALIE OSGOOD GROVER

AUTHOR OF 'THE SUNBONNET BABIES' BOOK,'
'THE OVERALL BOYS,' ETC.

BOSTON AND NEW YORK
HOUGHTON MIFFLIN COMPANY
The Riverside Press Cambridge

COPYRIGHT, 1911
BY EULALIE OSGOOD GROVER
PICTURES COPYRIGHTED BY THE ROTOGRAPH CO.
ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

The Riverside Press
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS
PRINTED IN THE U.S.A.

8. 10. 1919
1

CONTENTS

THE QUEEN	2
GRANNY GRAY	4
GETTING READY	6
I WONDER	7
READY FOR THE PARTY	8
A FULL CART	9
TIME TO START	10
IS MY HAT ON STRAIGHT	12
HIDING	14
AN INVITATION	15
NO PARTY FOR ME	16
I'M OFF	18
BEING WEIGHED	20
THE PARTY.	22

THE COMMANDING OFFICER	23
THE LATEST NEWS	24
WHAT IS IT?	25
I'LL SING YOU A SONG	26
A TALE OF A MOUSE	28
WE ARE THE CATS	29
A NURSE'S TALE	30
A FAMOUS MOUSER	32
A LONG TIME AGO	34
A DUNCE'S TALE	36
A TALE OF THREE KITTENS	38
THE KITTENS THREE	41
A RAINY-DAY TALE	42
A TALE OF LONDON TOWN	44
A TALE I KNOW	46

CONTENTS

vii

A TALE OF ST. IVES	48
A LITTLE FAIRY'S TALE	50
A SECRET	52
WHO WAS HE	54
A STRANGER	55
A SAD TALE	56
MY OWN TALE	58
THREE TALES	60
A SIGHT TO SEE	61
A 'FRAID-CAT'S TALE	62
FROM THE NORTH POLE	64
THE TWINS	66
DO WE LOOK ALIKE	67
WHAT SHALL WE SING	68
WAITING	69

DING, DONG, BELL	70
THE DINING-ROOM	72
I AM SO HUNGRY	74
THE QUEEN'S TEA-TABLE	75
SEVEN LITTLE PUSSY-CATS	76
MANY THANKS	78
GOOD NIGHT	79
THE LAST TALE	80

KITTENS AND CATS

THE QUEEN

I am the Queen of all the Kittens.

I am the Queen ! the Queen !

Come, all you kittens and cats.

Hear what I have to say.

To-morrow I give a grand party.

The party will be in my palace.

You are all invited from the biggest to the littlest, from the oldest to the youngest, from the blackest to the whitest.

So wash your paws and shine your fur.

Forget your naughty tricks and do not one of you dare be late to your Queen's party.

To-morrow at one o'clock.

IT IS MY PARTY

GRANNY GRAY

I am Granny Gray.

I am very, very old, but I am going to the Queen's party.

I am grandmother to a great many kittens.

When any of them are naughty their mothers always send for me.

When any of them are sick I always know what to do.

I teach them how to sing.

I teach them how to scratch.

I teach them how to catch mice.

I am very, very old.

They call me Granny Gray.

I AM GRANNY GRAY

GETTING READY

Hark, hark! what is that noise?

No, I cannot play with you now.

I must take my bath.

I must get ready for the party.

I have a new jacket and a new hat to wear.

My pants were new last week, but they are not new now.

I tore two holes in them when I climbed the apple tree in the back yard.

Mother patched them, but somehow the patches show more than the holes did.

Perhaps my new jacket will cover the patches. I hope I shall look well dressed.

I WONDER

I wonder if those horrid patches
Upon my trousers white
Would show as much if they were not
As black as black as night?

READY FOR THE PARTY

Mew! mew! mew! mew!

Come, mother, come quickly!

We are all ready and waiting to start.

Yes, we are all here.

There are one, two, three, four of us.

The carriage is pretty small, but we think we can all get in.

We will be good this time and not push each other out.

But please do come quickly, mother.

It is hard to sit so still.

Mew! mew! mew! mew!

A FULL CART

We are three little cats in a cart
And one underneath on the floor,
The cart is so full we hardly see how There'll be any room for more.

TIME TO START

Dear me! my kittens are in such a hurry! They give me no time to dress.

It takes a very long time to shine my fur and to fix my bonnet.

It is a new bonnet. This is the first time I have worn it. I hope it looks all right.

I must practice sitting up straight and proper just for a minute. I want the Queen to know that I am a fine lady.

I hope my kittens will not rough up their fur. If they do I shall have to shine it all over again.

Now we must start.

Where is their father?

I HAVE A NEW BONNET

IS MY HAT ON STRAIGHT

Here I am. Yes, I am the father of those four fine kittens.

They are such beautiful kittens their mother does not even tie ribbons around their necks.

I am glad of that, for I do not like ribbons.

I must go now and take them all to the Queen's palace. I am sure they will be the handsomest kittens there.

I suppose I shall have to push their carriage.

Come, mother, let us be off. Are my whiskers stiff? Is my hat on straight?

WAITING FOR THE CHILDREN

HIDING

Don't tell anybody where I am.

I am hiding away from mother.

She wants me to go to the Queen's party and I don't want to go.

I don't like the Queen, she is so grand and dignified.

She frightens me.

I would rather hide in this pitcher all day than go to the Queen's palace.

Please don't tell where I am.

You will not, will you?

AN INVITATION

I've had an invitation

To go to see the Queen,

But I'm a bashful kitten

And I'd rather not be seen.

NO PARTY FOR ME

How strange it is that some of us want to go to the party, and some do not want to go. Some of us can go, and some cannot go.

I am one who wants to go, and I am one who cannot go.

I have a sick head. It aches. Perhaps I caught too many mice last night.

The doctor has been here. He told me to take this medicine every half-hour.

How I wish I could go to the party!

They surely will have something good to eat there, but I must stay at home and take my medicine.

I HAVE A SICK HEAD

I'M OFF

I'm off for the Queen's palace.

I'm the only cat in our country who has an automobile.

But I suppose all the fine cats will be having them soon.

It is really great fun to ride faster than any cat or kitten can run.

I would invite you to ride too, but there is room for only one.

So, good-bye!

I'm off for the Queen's party.

IN MY AUTOMOBILE

BEING WEIGHED

Yes, I am being weighed.

It frightens me to hang in the air like this.

What if I should fall, with my feet tied up in this bag!

I am sure I should be killed!

Can you see how much I weigh?

Nearly two pounds?

You don't mean it!

Then I am big enough to go to the party all alone, though I am not sure that I want to go.

I think I had rather stay at home and play.

HOW MUCH DO I WEIGH ?

THE PARTY

Attention, kittens and cats! The clock strikes one. The Queen's party has begun.

I am the Commanding Officer of the palace. Attention to what I have to say!

Our Queen bids you welcome.

She waits for you in her throne room.

As you each pass in you must salute her and recite for her a cat tale, a rat tale, or some other tale, long or short, true or not.

But no fears or tears, for our Queen has a fine dinner in her grand dining-room for all brave kittens and cats.

Now who has the best tale?

THE COMMANDING OFFICER

I'm an officer of the Queen ;

I'm proud as proud can be,

For I've a feather in my cap,

As any one can see.

THE LATEST NEWS

We are here to bring great news, O Queen!

We are here to bring great news!

Do you know —!

Do you know —!

Do you know a balloon

Has gone up to the moon!

The moon has been found

By a great, big balloon.

‘Up in a balloon, boys,

Sailing round the moon, boys.’

Just think of that!

Hurrah for the balloon!

Hurrah for the big moon!

WHAT IS IT

What's the news of the day,
Good neighbor, I pray?

They say a balloon
Has gone up to the moon.

I'LL SING YOU A SONG

I am a famous singer among kittens and cats. I sing in the kitten choir and in big concerts.

I wear a French bonnet when I sing.

My voice is very soft and very sweet.

I have come here to-day to sing for my Queen.

Purr-r, purr-r, purr-r!

I'll sing you a song.

Though not very long,

Yet I think it is as pretty as any.

Put your hand in your purse,

You'll never be worse,

And give the sweet singer a penny.

THE SWEET SINGER

A TALE OF A MOUSE

Listen, O Queen, to this tale of a mouse !

‘ Hickory, dickory, dock,

The mouse ran up the clock ;

The clock struck one,

And down he run,

Hickory, dickory, dock.’

And we gobbled him up.

So, dear Queen, no mouse shall trouble your party while we two brave cats are here.

WE ARE THE CATS

Oh! we are the cats that caught the mouse.

That ran up the clock so fast.
The clock struck one, and down he run,
And we gobbled him up at last.

A NURSE'S TALE

I'm the nurse who takes care of kittens and cats when they are sick.

Sometimes they eat too much and have the stomach-ache.

Sometimes they fall down stairs and bump their heads.

Sometimes they get their tails bitten by bad dogs.

Then their mothers send for me and I take care of them until they are well.

I always wear a white dress and a white bonnet.

If you ever get sick just send for me and I will take care of you.

A FAMOUS MOUSER

I am a famous mouser. I have caught more mice than any other cat.

I can see them afar off.

I can hear them afar off.

I can scent them afar off.

They are all afraid of me.

They scurry away whenever they see me coming.

I wear soft pads on the bottom of my feet so they cannot hear me.

I keep my teeth white and sharp.

My friends call me 'the Mouse Trap.'

But I know a Kitty who is not a good mouser. I will tell you about her.

'THE MOUSE TRAP'

This is my story:—

A LONG TIME AGO

Once there was a little Kitty,
White as the snow;
In the barn she used to frolic,
Long time ago.

In the barn a little Mousie.
Ran to and fro;
For she heard the Kitty coming,
Long time ago.

Nine pearl teeth had little Kitty,
All in a row;

And they bit the little Mousie,
Long time ago.

When the teeth bit little Mousie,
Mousie cried, Oh!
But she got away from Kitty,
Long time ago.

No mouse ever slipped through my paws like that, I am glad to say.

I am a great mouser.

Yes, I am a famous mouser, O Queen!

A DUNCE'S TALE

The other day in school I could n't do my sums.

I could n't tell how many two and two make.

I could n't read my lesson.

I could n't say my A B C's.

I could n't sing my song.

So the teacher made me stand on a stool. Then she put this cap on my head.

I have had to wear it ever since.

After this I am going to study hard.

I don't like to be called a dunce.

I don't like to sit on a stool.

Would you?

YES, I AM A DUNCE

A TALE OF THREE KITTENS

We will tell you a tale of ourselves, dear Queen. A tale of three little kittens.
‘Three little Kittens lost their mittens,
And they began to cry,
“O mother dear,
We very much fear
That we have lost our mittens.”

“Lost your mittens!
You naughty Kittens!
Then you shall have no pie.”
“Mee-ow, mee-ow, mee-ow!”
“No, you shall have no pie.”
“Mee-ow, mee-ow, mee-ow!”

THE KITTENS THAT LOST THEIR MITTENS

‘The three little Kittens found their mittens,

And they began to cry,

“O mother dear,

See here, see here,

See! we have found our mittens.”

“Put on your mittens,

You silly Kittens,

And you may have some pie.”

“Purr-r, purr-r, purr-r,

Oh, let us have the pie!

Purr-r, purr-r, purr-r.”’

THE KITTENS THREE

Did you ever see the kittens three
That lost their mittens so red?
They hopped in chairs and looked about,
And 'mee-ow' and 'mee-ow,' they said.

A RAINY-DAY TALE

One day it rained and we could not go out of doors.

So my brothers and sisters and I played Hide and Seek in the attic.

All of a sudden one of my brothers said, 'I'll tell you what let's do!'

'What's that?' we all asked together.

'Let's dress up! It's lots of fun.'

So we ran to the closet where father and mother keep their Sunday clothes.

I put on father's trousers, and now I wear them every day.

My brothers and sisters laugh at me.

But I think I look fine, don't you!

HIS FATHER'S TROUSERS

A TALE OF LONDON TOWN

If you should say :—

‘Pussy-cat, pussy-cat,
Where have you been?’

I should say :—

‘I’ve been to London
To look at the Queen.’

If you should say :—

‘Pussy-cat, pussy-cat,
What did you there?’

Then I should say :—

‘I frightened a little mouse
From under her chair.’

And she gave me these fine clothes.

THE HERO

A TALE I KNOW

Hey! diddle, diddle,
The cat and the fiddle.

The cow jumped over the moon;
The little dog laughed
To see such sport,

While the dish ran after the spoon.

I know, for I was the cat with the fiddle.

I saw the cow jump over the moon.

I heard the little dog laugh.

I saw the dish run away with the spoon.

Poor spoon!

I saw the whole of the fun.

Hey! diddle, diddle,
The cat and the fiddle!

HEY! DIDDLE, DIDDLE

A TALE OF ST. IVES

Listen, O Queen! to my wonderful tale.

‘As I was going to St. Ives,
I met a man with seven wives
Every wife had seven sacks,
Every sack had seven cats,
Every cat had seven kits:
Kits, cats, sacks, and wives,
How many were there going to St.
Ives?’

I have thought and counted, and counted and thought, but I cannot tell how many were going to St. Ives.

Can you help me, wise Queen?

ON THE WAY TO ST. IVES

A LITTLE FAIRY'S TALE

I am called Little Fairy.

Would you know that I am only a kitten, dear Queen?

Even the mice do not know it, for they play with me and we have fine frolics together.

One day a little mouse told me just where to find his house.

If he had known that I was a real, live kitten, I am sure he never would have told me.

Would you like to know where the little mouse lives ? A friend was with me and she will tell you. Listen!

THEY CALL ME LITTLE FAIRY

A SECRET

Yes, listen to my wonderful secret!

I asked the mouse,

‘Where is your house?’

The mouse then said to me,

‘Tell not the cat

And I’ll tell thee.

Up stairs and down stairs,

Then straight ahead;

To the right, to the left,

Then bend down your head;

For there is my house

With the door so small,

That even a mouse

Can’t go in if he’s tall.’

I KNOW A SECRET

WHO WAS HE

I have a strange tale, O Queen.

The other day I found a round glass.

An old man was looking into the glass, so I looked in, and guess what I saw.

I saw a cat looking straight at me.

His face was white just like mine.

His eyes had black spots in them just like mine, and his whiskers were long just like mine.

When I said 'Mew!' he said 'Mew!'

When I moved my paw, he moved his paw.

When I ran away, he ran away too, so
I never have found out who he was.

A STRANGER

I've met the cat that lives behind
The looking glass, you see.
He's very handsome, and he looks
For all the world like me.

A SAD TALE

Ding, dong, bell!

My pretty pussy is drowned, is drowned!

Ding, dong, bell!

Pussy's in the well.

Who put her in?

Little Tommy Lin.

Who pulled her out?

Great Johnny Stout.

What a naughty boy was that,

To drown the poor, poor pussy-cat,

Who never did him any harm,

But killed the mice in his father's barn.

Ding, dong, bell!

I am sad, so sad, dear Queen!

MY PUSSY'S IN THE WELL

MY OWN TALE

Pussy-cat Mew jumped over a coal,
And in her best petticoat burnt a great hole.

Poor Pussy's weeping, she'll have no more milk
Until her best petticoat's mended with silk.

Mew! mew! mew!
I am Pussy-cat Mew.

PUSSY-CAT MEW

THREE TALES

I am the cat, that caught the rat,
That ate the malt,
That lay in the house that Jack built.

I am the dog, that worried the cat,
That caught the rat,
That ate the malt,
• That lay in the house that Jack built.

I am the kitten all forlorn,
That scratched the dog,
That worried the cat,
That caught the rat,
That ate the malt,
That lay in the house that Jack built.

A SIGHT TO SEE

The cat and the dog and the kitten
Were as brave as brave could be,
But when they came to visit the Queen,
Why, they were a sight to see!

A 'FRAID-CAT'S TALE

Once I was a 'fraid-cat, dear Queen.

All the kittens and cats laughed at me and sang this song about me.

C was a cat who ran after a rat,

But her courage did fail

When he seized on her tail.

Now what do you think that cat did do?

She jumped in a chair and cried,

Mew! mew!

I was the cat who ran after the rat,

But my courage did fail

When he seized on my tail.

Mew! mew!

MY COURAGE DID FAIL

FROM THE NORTH POLE

I came from the land of the snow, from the land of the Eskimo, where the summer is all day and the winter is all night.

We dress in fur coats up there.

It's cold, so cold one can hardly wink.

But I am proud of my land, for the North Pole is there.

The dogs have seen it. They tell us so.

And what the dogs say is true, you know.

A LITTLE ESKIMO

THE TWINS

We are twin kittens.

There are two of us, and we look just alike.

Our brothers and sisters cannot tell us apart.

Even our mother cannot tell us apart.

When one of us says "Mew!" the other says "Mew!"

When one is hungry, the other is hungry.

When one is sleepy, the other is sleepy.

We are afraid, dear Queen, that we are beginning to be sleepy right now.

We have had such fun at your party!

DO WE LOOK ALIKE

We look alike and dress alike,

And act alike, they say,

And that is why we're called the Twins

By good old Granny Gray.

WHAT SHALL WE SING

We are twins too, and they say we look alike.

We are so hungry just now we simply cannot tell you a tale.

But we will sing you a song,—if we can think of one.

Hey ding a ding, what shall we sing?

How many holes in a skimmer?

Four and twenty,—we're feeling quite empty;

Dear Queen, give us some dinner.

Hey ding a ding, what shall we sing?

Dear Queen, give us some dinner.

WAITING

We've washed our paws and noses red;

We think we look quite neat;

We've donned our bibs, and now we beg

For something good to eat.

DING, DONG, BELL

Ding, dong, bell!

We have something to tell!

All you kittens and cats who have told tales of rats, or of mice, or of cats, and have made our Queen laugh, listen!

The Queen bids you come to the grand dining-room. There a dinner she spreads which may quite turn your heads.

Heed what we say and we'll show you the way.

Ding, dong, bell!

DING, DONG, BELL

THE DINING-ROOM

Oh my! What a fine dining-room, and how many tables there are!

Each cat has a table all to himself. I wonder why.

There is the Queen sitting at the end of the room.

She is looking straight at me.

Oh dear! What if I should spill my milk on this white cloth!

What would the Queen say to me!

I am almost afraid to drink it.

It is so hard to drink out of china cups. But I must try.

THE QUEEN IS LOOKING STRAIGHT AT ME

I AM SO HUNGRY

I wish some one would hurry and bring me some milk.

Mine is all gone and so is my mouse.

I wonder if this is all we are going to have to eat.

I am so hungry I shall have to go home and catch a rat.

The Queen is asking some one to tell a story. I believe she means me.

Yes, dear Queen, I will tell you a story about seven little pussy-cats who were not so polite as we are. But first may I please have a little more milk to drink?

(My tale is coming.)

THE QUEEN'S TEA-TABLE

The Queen has had the table set,
As fine as fine can be,
And now I wish she'd send some milk
For a hungry cat like me.

SEVEN LITTLE PUSSY-CATS

Seven little pussy-cats, invited out to tea, Cried: ‘Mother, let us go. Oh, do! for good we’ll surely be.

We’ll wear our bibs and hold our things as you have shown us how:—

Spoons in right paws, cups in left,— and make a pretty bow.

We’ll always say, “Yes, if you please,”
and “Only half of that.”’

‘Then go, my darling children,’ said the happy Mother Cat.

The seven little pussy-cats went out that night to tea.

Their heads were smooth and glossy, their tails were swinging free ;

They held their things as they had learned, and tried to be polite;
With snowy bibs beneath their chins
they were a pretty sight.
But, alas for manners beautiful, and coats as soft as silk!
The moment that the little kits were asked to take some milk,
They dropped their spoons, forgot to bow, and — oh, what do you think?
They put their noses in the cups and all began to drink!
Yes, every naughty little kit set up a
Mee-ow for more,
Then knocked the tea-cup over, and scampered through the door.

MANY THANKS

Sing, sing, what shall I sing?

Many thanks to my Queen,

I will sing,

I will sing.

Do, do, what shall I do?

I will run away home,

And go to bed too,

And go to bed too.

GOOD NIGHT

Yes, I have put my jacket on,
And my Good Night have said,
And now I'm going home again,
And then straightway to bed.

THE LAST TALE

The book is done, the tales are told;

Don't wake me with your noise.

For I'm as tired, — as tired, I guess,

As many girls and boys.

